Your Comments: I do not know all of the details of this plan but at first blush from what I read in The Oregonian it sounds like a correct mix of mitigation in my opinion. I see no reason to go much farther at this time plus the expense would be horrendous to go much farther. One thing I would like to see is to not allow the leaders of Portland take on one cent more of the costs that apply to the city taxpayers as they are usually eager to do to protect their favored businesses. Businesses that polluted should shoulder the brunt of the costs.
